Dewitt MacKenzie Interprets Today's News
From War Zones

Communist international headquarters in Moscow appears to have decided that this is the appointed hour to strike again for Europe's conversion to the red-flag doctrine.

This move had been expected, but a formal effort hadn't been looked for until the war had been given a chance to crack morale in the belligerent countries.

The appeal by the international comintern to the workers of Britain and France to "go against those who favor continuation of imperialistic war" fits perfectly, strange though it seems, with what is understood generally to be that organization's program for world revolution.

I'm afraid we must take the liberty of interpreting this as a decidedly left-handed way to reach war's end.

The seeming paradox of a call for peace meaning a call for revolt ceases to be a contradiction, however, when the comintern operations are studied. Here is the story as we know it:

When the Soviets were born out of the bolshevik revolution in Russia, they immediately created the international, or comintern, as the "general staff of the world revolution."

It was hoped that a general revolt of the masses in all countries could be brought about as the result of conditions resulting from the World War. That was the milk the infant Soviets got their start on.

The bolsheviks strained every nerve to swing the world with them. They even sold imperial crown-jewels and other priceless relics and used for work abroad money which they desperately needed at home.

Some revolutions indeed were set going, but the scheme as a whole failed. However, the comin-tern kept its fires burning.

When Stalin came to power in 1924 he decided on a radical change in policy. His program was to make soviet Russia a mighty power first, and let the world revolution wait until a fa-

Claim Confession From Man Held for Slaying

Belleville, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)— Accused of the double murder of his wife and daughter, Adolph Bruehl, 44-year-old brewery worker, was held today in the county jail with Assistant State's Attorney Fred J. Bier claiming a confession from him.

The mother, 36, and her 10-year-old daughter, Madeline, were found dead at the Bruehl home near here late yesterday.

Deputy sheriffs, who arrested Bruehl shortly afterward at the home of a neighbor, quoted him as saying, "I admit I shot them.
When a fellow gets mad he does things he shouldn't."

Later, Bier said, Bruehl told with outward calm of a quarrel with his wife that led up to the shooting. They had separated last Thursday after being married for 17 years.

Bruehl, who thought his wife and daughter still were alive, although wounded, then was informed they were dead. He exhibited strong emotion. His facial muscles twitched, and he said to deputies, "Now shoot me, will you."

Life Said To Be More Normal Now in Warsaw

Berlin, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A letter from a reliable person in Warsaw dated Nov. 3 describing the condition of about 100 Americans still in the Polish city has been seen by The Associated Press correspondent.

"Life gradually is resuming its normal course," the writer said.
"Most houses already have water and electric light. One is already permitted to send letters but only to Germany and in the German language. That is why I am not writing you in English." (Presumably this restriction applied only to Poles.)

"It is very difficult to buy postage stamps. Sometimes the postoffice doesn't sell any at all and when any are put on sale the public must often stand several hours before the window. I had to stand four hours."

Hope Girl May Give Clue to Missing Judge

New York, Nov. 7.—(AP)— Emil K. Ellis, attorney for the widow of the long-missing Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater, said today a girl he believed was June Brice, a former Broadway showgirl, was a patient at the Pilgrim state hospital at Brentwood, Long Island.

"If it is Miss Brice," Ellis added, "I believe she can tell us what happened to Justice Crater."

Neutrals in New Move to End Conflict

WOULD PUT FLAG OF PANAMA OVER NINE U. S. SHIPS

Proposal of U. S. Lines Frowned Upon by Sec. of State Hull

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)— Secretary Hull expressed today his opposition to the transfer to Panamanian registry of United States Lines ships as impairing the integrity of the neutrality act.
Hull said he had given this opinion to the Maritime Commission. He did not indicate what the commission's reaction was.

The United States Lines applied for permission to transfer to Panamanian registry nine ships which had been in transatlantic service.

After one member of the commission had said yesterday that the transfer had been approved, the full commission issued after a late night session a statement saying it was deferring final action, pending an investigation of all the facts.

At his press conference, Hull recalled that yesterday he had told the Maritime Commission there was no question of foreign policy involved in the transfer, but that his opinion was given in the absence of virtually any of the facts.

The secretary of state added that as some of the facts pertaining to the application of the United States Lines for transfer of registry had since come to him, he did not feel favorably impressed with them.

Would Waive Protection
The ships consist of all but two of those used in transatlantic service by the United States Lines.
If the application is approved, they would be transferred to a Panamanian corporation, would have no American citizens in their crews.

"The proposed transfer would divorce the ships involved from any and all protection afforded by the United States flag," said a commission statement.

"Any favorable action would be taken by the maritime commission only upon the definite understanding that operations of the vessels in question can in no way involve the rights of diplomatic protection by the United States or be made the basis of any claim put forward by the government of the United States."

The commission explained that the ships could not carry any crew in the combat areas defined by President Roosevelt. These extend eastward from midatlantic around the British Isles and all western Europe from Bergen, Norway, to northern Spain.

Should the ships ever be returned to United States registry, the commission added, they could not enter coastwise or intercoastal service.

All the craft, built during or just after the World War, are owned outright by the United States Lines.

Two Under Old Glory
The United States Lines' two largest ships—the Manhattan and the Washington—will remain under the American flag.

Commissioner Max Truitt, discussing the application, expressed the belief that it was a sound situation without "any element of a dodge" from the neutrality act.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) told reporters that transfer or registry by some American lines was to be anticipated. Senator Capper (R-Kans.), although terming the proposal a surprise, added that he saw nothing to be alarmed about.

On the other hand, Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, declared in New York that the company can ignore the collective bargaining contract with it.

"If they put alien seamen on these ships to evade the neutrality law and our union contracts," he said.

Capital Society Worries Over At- tending Russian Embassy Function

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)—
Not since the British embassy's royal garden fete has a capital party created such a furore as today's 22nd anniversary celebration of the Russian revolution at the soviet embassy.

Last June, officials and their wives who were not invited to greet the British monarchs fumed over the omission. Today, congressmen and diplomats invited to the soviet reception worried over whether they should attend.

Nazi Neighbors Apparently Have Evaded Blockade

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)— Government figures indicated today that Germany's neutral neighbors may have run millions of dollars worth of American goods past the allied blockade to the reich in the first month of the war.

Officials declined to discuss the possibility, but the commerce department published figures showing that although Germany obtained scarcely anything from the United States in September, her neutral neighbors greatly stepped up their purchases here.

In September, 1938, for instance, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Belgium, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland together bought $34-611,000 from the United States.
Of that total, $12,675,000 was bought by Germany alone.

This September, Germany's purchases fell off to $607,000, but the American purchases of the middle European group totaled $33,460,000—virtually the same as last year.

Neutrals shopped for Germany in the World War, with the result that England and France started rationing them in an attempt to limit their imports to quantities they needed only for themselves.

At least part of the September increase in exports to European neutrals was caused by the disruption of their normal purchases from England, France and Germany.

If Germany sent other countries shopping here in September, the figures indicate that Italy and Russia probably were not so employed. Italy's imports from the United States increased only from $4,158,000 in September, 1938, to $4,834,000 this September, while Russia's imports fell from $5,595,000 to $1,785,000. Spain's imports gained, but this was believed due to the fact Spain is now rebuilding its war wreckage.

German Prize Crew Taken to Fortress

Bergen, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Seventeen German seamen, the first while prize crew of the American freighter City of Flint, were removed from the mine layer Olav Trygvason today to be taken to the fortress at Kongsvinger, near the Swedish border.

The Germans, held when Norway returned the City of Flint to her American crew, were expected to leave on tonight's train for the trip across southern Norway.

An eighteenth German originally in the prize crew became ill and was left at Murnansk, soviet Russian port at which the Flint stopped after her capture October 9 by a German raider.

The American crew, granted no shore leave, was busy putting the ship in order.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, United States minister to Norway, and Maurice P. Dunlap, consul at Bergen, who visited the ship yesterday, declined to discuss disposition of the cargo or departure plans.

Commissioner Max Truitt, discussing the application, expressed
the belief that it was a sound situation without "any element of a dodge" from the neutrality act.

LAND NEAR CITY WILL BE SCENE OF GUARD DRILL

Intensive Field Training Will Be Conducted Week-Ends

About 200 acres of land with wooded tracts, fields and rolling country northwest of here has been secured by officers of Company A, 129th infantry of this city, for maneuvers to be held during November. Through the generosity of Frank Randall, who controls the Plum Hollow golf course, Harold and Leslie Coss and George Covert, 180 acres of land has been donated for use of the Guardsmen.

The Dixon company will use this area on two occasions for defense maneuvers of two-day periods each and on Nov. 24, 25 and 26, battalion maneuvers will be conducted. In the latter maneuvers approximately 500 officers and soldiers will concentrate at the Dixon armory for the three day maneuver. The troops will be housed and fed at the armory, where field kitchens will be set up, and from which the strict military movements will be directed.

Buy Supplies Here
Officers of Company A and the battalion are now making arrangements with Dixon merchants to furnish supplies for the soldiers during the three day concentration drill. The troops will be quartered at the Armory and all operations will begin from this central location. It is also probable that some of the maneuvers will extend to the Lost Nation section northeast of Dixon, officers of the local company said today.

The Dixon company will start Saturday on a two day maneuver which will have its origin at the Armory. Members of the company will not be notified of the method of maneuver or the location of operations until they proceed in heavy marching order, with all equipment. The company will engage in two week end maneuvers before the three-day defense drill.

Mayor of Dixon Proclaims Nov. 23 Thanksgiving

Mayor William V. Slothower, following the lead set by President Roosevelt and Governor
Henry Horner, today proclaimed
Thursday, Nov. 23, as Thanksgiving Day in Dixon. His proclamation follows:

"The past year our city and the community surrounding it, have been most truly blessed.

"Many physical improvements, either completed or under construction and our manufacturing and business establishments, have provided gainful employment for the majority of our citizens; our farms have produced a bountiful crop of food; we have been free from pestilence and disease.

"With many of the nations of the world torn by war our remains at peace.

"By the power delegated to me,
I proclaim Thursday, November 23rd a holiday on which we especially give thanks to Almighty God, the Supreme Ruler of all and everything, for these countless blessings.

Select Jury to Probe Epidemic at Manteno

Kankakee, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)— Six women and 17 men were selected today for the grand jury which will begin an inquiry Monday into the typhoid epidemic at Manteno state hospital.

Samuel Shapiro, state's attorney, said in announcing the investigation that he would seek malfeasance, misfeasance and possibly manslaughter indictments against A. L. Bowen, state director of public welfare; Dr. Ralph Hinton, suspended managing officer of the hospital, and Lillian Williams, hospital dietitian.

The jury list included Walter Bratton, brother of Circuit Judge
Luther Bratton, former Mayor Roy Taylor of Kankakee, and Charles Entwistle, city plumbing inspector.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM BEGINS WITH 9:30 PARADE

Exercises at High School Will Take But Hour
Saturday Morn

Plans for the observance of Armistice Day by Dixon Post, American Legion, all patriotic organizations and the citizens of the community were announced today by Commander Gerald Jones of the local Post and the committee in charge of the program.

The services will be held in the high school auditorium commencing at 10 o'clock and will termin-ate at 11 o'clock with services at the flag pole on the high school grounds. The Rev. F. C. Voet of Warren, department chaplain of the American Legion for the state of Illinois, will deliver the address of the day. The officers of the local post feel they are extremely fortunate in obtaining a department officer of the caliber of Father Voet to deliver the Legion message.

Father Voet has a state-wide reputation as an orator and the Legion members who have heard him in the past are enthusiastic concerning his appearance in Dixon. He served in the World War before entering the priesthood and has a varied experience which qualifies him highly for his activity in Legion circles.

All Invited
The services at the high school will be open to the public and an urgent invitation is extended to all of the citizens of the community to co-operate with the Legion in observing Armistice Day. In view of the chaotic condition throughout the world today it is believed that patriotic programs on Armistice Day will assist in relieving the tension under which citizens are living now.

The Legion has definitely gone on record as favoring strict neutrality in the present European crisis and is asking the co-operation of the public in furtherance of this program. All patriotic organizations of the city are cordially invited by the Legion to assist in the program.

Details of Program
The Legion members, members of other veteran organizations and patriotic organizations, are requested to meet at the Elks club at 9:20 Saturday morning to march to the high school headed by the Dixon Municipal band. The printed program, which is being distributed to the citizens of the community, will be presented before this change was decided upon and all Legion members are requested to note the fact that the parade will start at the Elks club rather than at the Legion hall. The open house at the Legion hall which is also noted in the program is also to be disregarded as the Legion no longer maintains quarters at the Legion hall.

The details of the program require that the parade move at 9:30 so that all may be in their places in the auditorium to open the program at 10 o'clock. In addition to the address by Father Voet the program provides for selections by the Dixon Municipal band; selections by the Dixon high school mixed glee club, composed of 75 students; reading of the roll call of deceased veterans and the Forty & Eight memorial services based on the Unknown Soldier's program.

Kansas City Auditor's Predicament Puzzling

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)— Police today puzzled over the predicament of John Fredman, 41-year-old Kansas City, Mo., auditor, who lay seriously ill of exposed in Springfield hospital. Fred-man was also apparently suffering from amnesia.

Police Officer Patrick O'Brien said that he and Policeman J. P.
Kessinger found Fredman about Saturday noon wandering dazedly in a field near Sherman, a few miles north of here. Nearby, his automobile was parked, its ignition wires disconnected.

O'Brien said Fredman's body bore no marks of violence.

The victim's brother, Harry, a Kansas City lawyer, said that about $68 was missing from the auditor's pockets.

The policemen said they were told by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bowen of Springfield that Fredman had visited them about noon Friday and left after about an hour saying he intended to return to Kansas City. Harry Fredman said his brother had been in Chicago for a short vacation.

Naval Plane Crashes In Flames; One Killed

Honolulu, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A naval observation plane burst into flames in diving practice yesterday and crashed into the sea off Barber's point.

The observer was missing but his companion was saved.

The plane was from the aircraft carrier Enterprise.

The pilot, picked up by a naval crash boat after he had managed to stay afloat 40 minutes, was Lieut. Junior Grade W. R. Wallis.
He suffered only slight burns about the face and forearms.

The observer was identified as

Of Interest to Farmers

D. H. S. Chapter

By LEROY SIDEN, Reporter

The F. F. A. held its monthly meeting Thursday, Nov. 2. Every year the F. F. A. organizes a basketball team to participate with other ag teams in nearby towns. Bill Killian was elected captain and Neil Bowers was made manager of the team. A decision was made also about the F. F. A. emblems and uniforms for the members in the coming judging contests.

Orval Gearhart, a Dixon high school student, attended the meeting and gave a very interesting talk on his trip to Europe in 1937. He discussed some of his experiences through his visits in the various countries and their conditions.

Dr. Collins, the new veterinarian of Dixon, gave an interesting talk to the junior and senior ag class on the cure and prevention of disease in livestock. Dr. Collins pointed out the fact that vaccination of livestock is done only to control the worst diseases. He discussed that a good, balanced ration and sanitation are the best safeguards against most diseases. He also explained that veterinarians mean to prevent disease rather than cure them.

The F. F. A. boys last week gained more knowledge pertaining to soil acidity. They found, through their studies that some farmers get the idea that limestone can be used extensively on any crop to produce large yields, but this is wrong in every way. Lime is used to sweeten the soil to grow legume crops only. It will not ordinarily increase yields of our common grain crops enough to pay for the cost of the limestone. It must be remembered that limestone is not a fertilizer but a neutralizer of the soil.

In addition to knowledge on soil acidity the vocational agriculture club gained a few very important facts on hay raising. The problem of good hay raising has been quite an event to many farmers. According to the story the weighing age for pigs in the Indiana market hog show had to be changed from 180 to 170 days because, growers were making use of the John Schwab method and were making them too big. When Illinois brought out a system of balancing corn with protein supplement growers were told they could expect 200-pound pigs in six months time if they gave good attention. This sounded a bit too good to come farmers who were used to nine months old pigs at this same weight. But Indiana said that "you can't beat legume pasture, shelled corn and tankage in self-feeders for making pigs to market size." The results of this method made the farmers who adopted the Illinois plan say that it was all wrong and couldn't be done but it was done.

Homer Whitehair and his son James live in Delaware county, Indiana. The father is noted for good hog production and has held his outstanding record for a number of years. His system was the same as the Illinois routine. He has good stock and had very little trouble in producing 200-pound litters averages at 180 days. James decided to enter the show and put his litter of 10 pigs farrowed February 18, with his father's litters. They remained in a banked A-type sow lot at the farmstead more than two weeks and then were moved with the mother and the house to a small patch of bluegrass turf. A self-feeder was set up in the new lot and filled with a special pig starter, most of which was composed of seven

Ohio, Ill., Youth Is Among Judges

It's no mystery to these students from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture why lamb chops are tender and juicy. They know the secrets of good lamb and proved it by winning first honors in lamb judging during the annual intercollegiate meat judging contest at the American Royal Livestock show in Kansas City, Mo. Eight other colleges and universities competed.

parts finely ground yellow corn, two parts crushed wheat and one part protein supplement. This ration was used on pigs before they were weaned but it was used as part of the feeding program for these litters and right away larger and thrifter pigs resulted at the age of eight weeks. James kept on feeding his litter after eight weeks while his father changed to his regular method routine of corn and tankage with his litters. At the end of 171 days, believe it or not, James' Chester whites averaged 248 pounds and a barrow that really had overdone it, tipped the scale at 286 pounds. The heaviest pigs from his father's litter averaged only 225 pounds at 188 days. This striking result of young Whitehair's experience will get farmers aiming at 200-pound pigs at five months.

Young Whitehair's ration was composed of 20 pounds of tankage, 20 pounds of fish meal, 40 of soybean meal, 10 of linseed meal and 10 of cottonseed meal for spring pigs. This is varied for winter by taking out 10 pounds of the soybean meal and adding 10 pounds of alfalfa meal.

Castration, weaning and vaccination play a very important part in obtaining heavier pigs. Castrating and vaccinating should take place before weaning to prevent set-backs. Castrating at four weeks is a rather tedious method but the pig at that age hardly bleeds and will heal in a few days. Vaccinating at five weeks and weaning at seven weeks has proven practical. This Indiana method of feeding has made Illinois come to Indiana to get good market pigs instead of Indiana coming to Illinois.

GENTRY HERD IS TOPS IN REPORT IN OGLE COUNTY

The Ogle County Dairy Herd Improvement association average for October was 622 pounds of milk and 22.8 pounds of fat with 364 cows on test from 25 herds. Seventy-six of the 364 cows on test were dry. During the month 10 unprofitable cows were sold to the butcher and seven cows bought for dairy purposes. Forty-eight cows each produced over 40 pounds of fat. The separators were losing over .05 percent.

The five high herds, listed according to owner, number and breed, average pounds of milk, average pounds of fat, number of dry cows, were, as follows:

Lee M. Gentry, 38 registered Holsteins, 945 lbs. milk; 34.8 lbs. fat, 3 dry cows.

Clarence Ratmeyer, nine grade Holsteins, 1103 lbs. milk; 32.7 lbs. fat; two dry cows.

Grover Thomas, 12 grade and registered Holsteins, 839 lbs. milk; 30.9 lbs. fat; two dry cows.

J. S. Hughes, 15 grade and registered Holsteins, 808 lbs. milk; 29.4 lbs. fat; 1 dry cow.

Getzenander Farm, 20 registered Holsteins, 916 lbs. milk; 28.6 lbs. fat; two dry cows.

All the cows listed above were milked twice daily.

The five high cows listed according to owner, breed, pounds of milk, and pounds of fat, were:

Richard Magee, registered Holstein, 2074 lbs. milk; 87.1 lbs. fat.

J. W. Hemingway, registered Holstein, 1792 lbs. milk; 71.7 lbs. fat.

Lee M. Gentry, registered Holstein, 1581 lbs. milk; 63.2 lbs. fat.

Forrest Gillespie, registered Holstein, 1378 lbs. milk; 63.1 lbs. fat.

Grover Thomas, registered Holstein, 1711 lbs. milk; 61.6 lbs. fat.

All the above cows were milked twice daily.

There has in almost every instance been little or no pasture this fall and due to this fact quite a number have opened their silos early. If a cow is allowed to slump in production at this time of the year, having freshened in the summer, she can very rarely be brought back up as winter comes on and she is fed entirely on dry feed. Therefore it is a good policy to feed some roughage, hay or silage at this time of the year to go with what little pasture there is. A number of farmers have started to leave the herd in nights and some have stopped letting them out to pasture altogether and are feeding all dry feed to them.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Dear Friends:

Beginning this week "Let's Talk Turkey" will be one of the short subjects included in movie programs all over the country.

I saw a preview of it the other day and although the movie industry isn't concerned over our problems and made the film purely for entertainment, I think that indirectly it's going to help sell a lot of the 32,000,000 turkeys that have been raised this year. Everyone gets a big laugh out of the young husband's struggle to carve a turkey in front of his wife's critical relatives and seems interested when an expert demonstrates how easy it is—if you know how.

Twenty million persons are expected to see this film and I'll miss my guess if it doesn't make a lot of them so hungry for turkey they will go out and buy one.

When you consider that the biggest crop of turkeys ever produced in this country has to be sold within the next few weeks, I think everyone raising poultry can well say thanks to the movie industry for the publicity.

Turkeys Selling Well

Even if you don't have any turkeys yourself, you are affected by the market for them, because the price of one type of poultry always influences the prices being paid for all other kinds.

It's important that as many turkeys as possible should be eaten between now and the first of the year, because if more are left than would normally be used next spring and summer, it will hurt the market for all poultry next year.

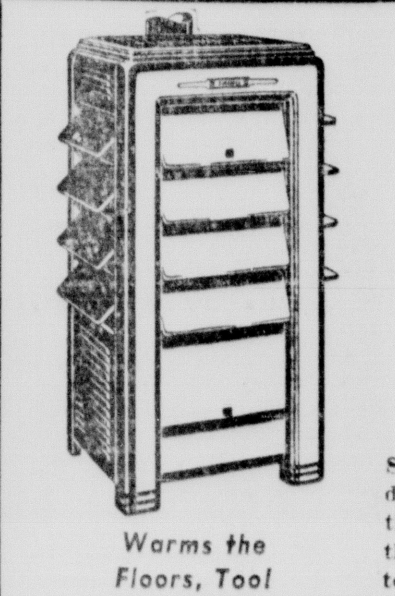

It seems to me that every magazine and newspaper I pick up has an ad or an article calling attention to the fact that turkeys are a good buy. When anything is repeated constantly, it's bound to make an impression. The price at which turkeys are being sold in the stores looks good to women who must watch how much they spend for food, and they have bought a lot of turkeys already this fall.

In some places I understand they are buying them for Thanksgiving on the installment plan. For several weeks now they have been paying the butcher 50 cents a week and when Thanksgiving arrives, their turkeys will be all paid for!

There's always something new—and that's the latest! What interested me most was that one corner grocer, who is accepting these installment payments, has already sold fifty-four turkeys for Thanksgiving!

Sincerely yours,
Frank Priebe

Prepares Report On Farm Outlook

P. E. JOHNSTON, agricultural economist extension, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

First reports on the outlook for agriculture and farm family living during 1940 will be made at 19 district outlook conferences which have been arranged for December 11 to 22, according to a schedule announced by Dean H. P. Rusk of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Schedule of the meeting is: Pekin and Olney, December 11; Monmouth, Mt. Vernon and Paris, 12; Rushville, Harrisburg, 13; Jacksonville, Carbondale and Bloomington, 14; Carlinville and Belleville, 15; Kankakee, 18; LaSalle and Taylorville, 19; Rockford and Vandalia, 21; and Geneva, 22.

Attending the meetings will be delegations of farm men and women and the farm and home advisers from the counties represented in these districts. Farm men and women attending the meetings will be local leaders who are assisting farm and home advisers in spreading the outlook information. Following the district sessions, they will return to their home communities and conduct meetings among their neighbors at which time the facts of the outlook will be discussed.

Prior to the series of district outlook meetings, three staff members of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture will attend a national outlook meeting in Washington, D. C. At that time representatives from the various states and from the U. S.

Lee County Hog Raiser Receives Market Peak

Charles Schafer, prominent feeder of Lee county who farms near Ashton, received the extreme top price in the Tuesday trade at the Chicago stock yards last week for a drove of 30 choice Hampshire butcher hogs averaging 255 pounds per head. They were sold without sorting at $7.00 per cwt.

Albert Butler is Second In Corn Growing Contest

Albert Butler of Sublette has been informed by the DeKalb Agricultural association that he placed second in Lee county in the corn growing contest. On the basis of the figures that were submitted to the association's office, Mr. Butler's yield was 133.78 bushels per acre.

New Jersey reduced highway deaths from 1278 in 1937 to 855 in 1938.

Young Lee County Farm Boy Will Exhibit His Stock at Exposition

Two Hereford baby heaves will be shown by Glenn Hill, a 15-year-old Lee county farm boy, in the junior live stock classes of the 1939 International Livestock Exposition. He has sent word that he is fitting two steer calves of his own raising on his father's farm near Dixon.

The junior show will feature an exhibition of heaves, lambs, and pigs shown by farm boys and girls from most of the midwestern states, as well as from the south, the east coast and Montana and Wyoming. The competition will include approximately 500 animals, officials of the event have said.

A record entry is predicted by the management when a final tally of exhibits is made later in the month. The advance entry is the heaviest in the history of the show, with exhibits listed to date by stockmen from 32 states and Canada.

Ashton Couple Give Travelogue for Dixon Club

An illustrated travelogue on various countries and islands visited by Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schade of Ashton on their world cruise was a delightful program offering at last evening's Guest Night meeting of the Practical club, Mrs. C. A. Mellett of 804 Chula Vista was hostess for the evening.

The Schades first gave their impressions of Hawaii, with its millions of palms and thousands of acres of pineapple plantations, and colorful Waikiki beach. Afterward, their lecture itinerary took their audience to Egypt, with its pyramids, camel caravans, the river Nile, (bordered on one side with governmental buildings and on the other side, with palms and vegetation), and gigantic pyramids which have towered above the desert for five-thousand years; to India, where throngs worship daily in the sacred Ganges river, while others pay homage at the country's 20,000 shrines and temples; and finally to the Isle of Bali, often referred to as "The Paradise of the Pacific."

In Bali, the Ashton couple were impressed with wide stretches of rice fields made fertile by an extravagant flow of volcanic mud, the talent of the Balinese dancers and orchestra members, the temple of Basaki, said to be the most beautiful in the world, and the gardens and spice trees.

Mr. and Mrs. Schade displayed numerous souvenirs from their world cruise, including carved figurines from Sumatra, representing an entire orchestra, hand-woven silk tapestries from India, hand-carved paper knives of ivory, beads, and many unusual art pieces. They concluded their travel talk with pictures of their voyage through a storm on the Pacific, snow-capped Mt. Ranier, and the American Rockies.

A buffet lunch was served by Mrs. Mellett, assisted by Mrs. Street and Mrs. Whitson. Mrs. E. V. Mellett and Mrs. Harry Stephenson presided at the coffee urns at the chrysanthemum-trimmed refreshment table.

BOARD MEETING

Mrs. Earl Auman and Mrs. George Christianson were co-hostesses to board members of the Dixon Woman's club last evening at the Auman home. Mrs. J. R. McDaniel, the vice president, conducted the business session, which was followed by refreshments. Sixteen members attended.

The American citizenship and international relations department is arranging a program for the club's regular meeting on Saturday.

A SON

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lennon, Sr. of 703 Brinton avenue have received word of the birth of a son, John Barry, 111, to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lennon, Jr., of Chicago last evening at Chicago Lying-In hospital. The baby's mother is the former Miss Lila Kendall of Chicago. Mr. Lennon is research chemist with the Walgreen company.

John Barry, III is the Dixon couple's first grandchild.

Dixon Camera Club is Represented in Rockford Exhibit

Three prints by members of the Rock River Camera club of Dixon are on view at the tenth annual salon of the pictorial photograph division of the Rockford Art association, which opened yesterday in Burpee gallery at Rockford.

The pictures include "Bread" by Mrs. Carl Buchner, Jr., and "The Bite" and "Anglers Two" by Arnold LaCour, president of the Rock River club. A copy of Mrs. Buchner's print is being displayed in The Telegraph bulletin window with other prize-winning prints in the October contest of the local club.

Last evening's meeting of the local camera club was postponed for one week, in favor of a visit to the Rockford salon, where Dr. Max Thorek, head surgeon of the American hospital in Chicago, addressed the group on "Sanitary Art." Visitors were present from a number of neighboring clubs.

Those attending from Dixon were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold LaCour, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Buchner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Russo, Miss Catherine Buchner, Durward Brader, Corbus Hoffman, Louis Wilhelm, and Elwin Wadsworth. Raymond Brown, construction engineer for the treasury department, who has been spending some time in Oregon, and who spoke here recently, was also present.

Next Monday evening, members of the Dixon club will be viewing prints submitted for the November contest. "Architecture" is to be the theme for the exhibit.

SORORITY GROUP PLANS DINNER

Beta Sigma Phi of Gamma Mu chapter planned a dinner meeting for Nov. 20 when they met at the Chamber of Commerce last evening. Miss Edith Ites presided.

Miss Mary Margaret Hill led a discussion on "Means of Expression Through the Ages," and Miss Alice Crandall spoke on "Relation of Language to Culture."

NACHUSA CIRCLE

The Misses Gertrude Tull and Leona Heberlein will be hostesses to the Nachusa Teacher's Reading circle this evening. They will entertain at the Nachusa Lutheran Orphanage.

Chicago Pianist Gives Recital at Dixon High School

Willis Charkovsky, youthful Chicago pianist whose name seems destined to occupy an important place in the pianistic sphere, again demonstrated his mastery of the keyboard yesterday afternoon in a recital presented for Dixon high school students in the Dixon high school auditorium.

At the same time, Mr. Charkovsky demonstrated for his enthusiastic young audience that classical music need not be uninteresting, nor popular music, unworthy. It was evident that his program was selected with that particular mission in mind, and the result was a musical treat for members of his student audience, who were eager to call the young artist back to the platform for additional numbers.

Three compositions by Charkovsky himself were included on the program. They were a march, "America for Americans," Black Night," and incidental music for the play, "Shadow Dance."

The remainder of the program consisted of seven Chopin preludes, Nos. 3, 4, 7, 8, 10, 12, and 16, De Rose's "Deep Purple," the Scriabin Sonata No. 4 "Park Avenue Fantasy" by Malneck, the Ravel Toccata, and "Jumping at the Woodside" by Basie.

The pianist appeared at Mt. St. Clair academy in Clinton, Iowa last evening, and entertained students of the Rochelle high school this afternoon. Vincent Carney of Rochelle, president of the Dixon Music club, whose members have been privileged to hear the young pianist on previous occasions, introduced Mr. Charkovsky to his student audience here yesterday.

MERRY MAIDS

Merry Maids were guests of Mrs. Mary Hill at a scramble supper party last evening at the Frank Hoyle residence at Plum Hollow. During the evening's business meeting, conducted by Mrs. Clarence Cochran, plans were discussed for the club's Christmas party next month.

Tables were placed for games of 500, with score favors going to Mrs. George Alshouse, Jr., Miss Evelyn Graf, and Mrs. Cochran. Afterward, the group was entertained with piano and vocal music, and a dance presented by Mrs. Robert Hammerstrom and Mrs. Alshouse.

Mrs. Hammerstrom will entertain at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. A. Howe, on Nov. 20.

CHAPTER AC HAS BOOK REVIEW

Mrs. William Haefliger reviewed Professor Canby's biography of Thoreau for members of Chapter AC, P. E. O. Sisterhood, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. S. W. Lehman and Mrs. F. X. Newcomer entertained at the former's home on Dement avenue.

Refreshments were served, following the program. Mrs. A. H. Lancaster and Mrs. Herbert Nichols are to be the next hostesses.

COMPLIMENTS MRS. WEISS

Mrs. A. H. Lancaster entertained informally at bridge last evening for Mrs. John Weiss, of Champaign, who has been her guest since Sunday. The visitor, who resided here until recently, expected to return to her home this afternoon, following the Guest Day meeting of the Phidian Art club.

LITERARY CLUB

Mrs. W. C. Moser, 413 East Fourth street, will be hostess to members of the Twentieth Century Literary club on Thursday evening. Mrs. Joy Diehl will read a paper.

Marionettes Will Perform at Ashton

The Thurston Marionettes will perform for the amusement of the public on Friday evening at the Mills and Petrie Memorial gymnasium in Ashton. The grade grammar room of the school is sponsoring the show, which is scheduled for 7:45 o'clock.

The lordly Billy Goats Gruff will appear, "trip-trapping" arrogantly across the grouchy Troll's bridge. Other variety features by animated puppets will precede and follow the Gruff Goats' migration into greener pastures.

Miss Helene Thurston, whose agile fingers control the movements of her miniature performers, has had a brilliant success as a puppeteer, creating her own puppet characters and writing her own script. She achieves a production that engrosses adults as well as children, and has been received enthusiastically throughout this country and Canada.

The school orchestra and soloists will entertain during intermissions.

DINNER CLUB

Dr. and Mrs. George McGraham entertained their scramble supper club of 12 last evening. Three tables were placed for contract bridge, with Mrs. E. O. Miller and Mrs. H. W. Leydig winning favors.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kennedy are to be the next hosts.

DIXON CIRCLE

Relief reports were given by several members at yesterday's meeting of Dixon circle. Ladies of the G. A. R. A scramble supper, auction, and games were planned for the next meeting.

AFTERNOON UNIT

Mrs. Calvin J. Brown, 806 Galena avenue, will be hostess to Dixon Afternoon unit at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

POSTPONE MEETING

The meeting which members of the Dixon Household club were to have held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Raymond Hodges, has been postponed until Nov. 16.

ROCKFORD GUEST

Mrs. A. W. Hoyt of Rockford will arrive tomorrow for a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Z. W. Moss at "Whithorne."

SUNSHINE CLUB

Mrs. Walter Ortigiesen will entertain at an all-day meeting of the Sunshine club on Thursday.

FORECASTING BUSINESS
Something that wasn't on any of the business charts happened recently in steel town of Farrell, Pa., with its 15,000 inhabitants. Almost overnight, this town shook off its depression, and its workers went back to the mills. Everything is booming again, and the townspeople are cheered by the factory whistles that sounded again for the first time in nearly two years.

The same thing has happened in other cities, wherever there is industry. One day the factories are quiet, the workers jobless. And then a factory whistle blows and the town brightens up and merchants get rid of the stock that lay idle so long. Economists don't expect these things to happen because the graphs don't indicate prosperity.

One thing the business charts don't show is the psychology of the people. Business crests and depressions are not ruled alone by hard statistics. When economics is finally boiled down to an exact science, it will probably comprise a mixture of statistics and psychology.

SCHOOL OF SELF-EXPRESSION
Seventy-six guests of the St. Charles school for boys have taken leave without permission this year, a maneuver which in some quarters is considered bad form, inasmuch as the lads were invited there by the courts. They are not supposed to leave until they have absorbed the full intellectual and moral benefits afforded by this school.

One hardly ever hears of what the St. Charles school is accomplishing in a scholastic way. One hears every few days about boys taking French leave. Lest the public get the impression that the St. Charles institution is merely a school for escape, state officials should issue some sort of catalogue to every citizen.

The problem of what to do with rogues who are too young for the state penitentiary has been bothering governments ever since Hector was a pup. Our state institutions are already overcrowded, and even the over-abundance of paroles, probations, commutations and other evasions of sentence seems unable to keep down the housing and board burden.

We have it on the authority of J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the F. B. I., that crime is definitely on the increase. Not a mild increase comparable to the growth of population, but a sort of run-away inflation of criminal activity. As one surveys "society" it is hard to see how that great body, so often blamed by criminals for their misdeeds, is responsible for this cancerous growth. It would be profitable for criminologists to look into the early lives of these yeggs to see whether they were not affected by their upbringing in days before they got acquainted with society at large.

One school of thought seems to be on the wane. That was that a child should be permitted to "express himself," even though his youthful exuberance led him into destruction of property and invasion of the rights of others. On no account must the little dears suffer corporal punishment. Under this theory, no doubt, many little dears have grown up into upright and God-fearing young men. Others never learned that there are some things they must never do, and some things they must always do.

These latter dears are well represented at St. Charles. Their propensity for going away from there is merely a continuation of self-expression.

We have had a softening of home and school discipline and a corresponding increase in the number of youthful criminals. Whether there is any connection between the two developments is something for psychologists to study.

CLEAN-UP IN THE BUILDING INDUSTRY
Home owners should regard with glee the current investigation by the United States Justice Department on the high cost of building. Whoever may be responsible for high prices—contractors, unions or both—the entire matter should be laid open to public inspection. Prospective builders of family dwellings have already suffered too long from unreasonable building costs.

Attorney General Murphy has pointed out that in some communities, at least, there are sufficient grounds to believe that unscrupulous contractors and certain groups of unionists are directly responsible for high building costs. Certainly no one believes that the majority of contractors or the bulk of A. F. of L. unionists is anxious to impede building progress through obstructive tactics. But it takes only a handful of persons, engaged in nefarious schemes, to wield their influence over an entire industry.

It has been charged that collusive bidding among building contractors is one factor responsible for high costs. This is a system whereby builders get together and agree in advance on what bids are to be made on a project. Contractors can in this way completely eliminate competitive bidding.

Murphy's chief complaint against the A. F. of L. is the series of jurisdictional strikes that have disrupted home building efforts from time to time. There is no argument with the A. F. of L. or any other labor organization on the right to conduct peaceful and legitimate strikes for the attainment of lawful ends. There is, however, considerable objection to carrying on inter-union battles at the cost of the innocent home-builder.

A great deal may come of this nationwide investigation in the way of general reform in the building industry. Unionists and contractors alike may be indicted on a wide-spread scale to answer questions the public has been asking for years.

But if nothing more is gained than complete dissection of this problem, the purpose of the inquiry will not have been altogether lost. Home-owners will know, at least, where the blame may be justly placed. The road for future action will have been paved.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS
By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Nov. 6.—Tight-lipped Attorney General Murphy has let slip the word that sabotage was discovered in this country by his G-men even before Congress opened the way for shipping munitions abroad—but he refused to say what it was.

An amazing inside tale of what this country may be in for, now increasingly, lay behind his assertion. The sabotage was detected in a nut and bolt factory in Detroit which is manufacturing these products for various airplane factories.

Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation received a bolt destined for a Pan-American Clipper ship. It had been sawed in two, or nearly in two, and plated over cleverly so the defect would not be noticed. The original discovery was made, of course, by the manufacturer himself and he reported his evidence to the FBI.

FBI immediately got busy and put "the light" (a machine similar to an X-ray which pierces metal with an all-seeing eye) on every order of bolts from this factory.

Fourteen were discovered which had been sawed and plated.

Failure of one such bolt would not necessarily have meant failure of any part of the big trans-oceanic ships. In general bolts are fastened in groups so that if one fails, others may successfully perform the service of the defective one. However the discovery was disconcerting to say the least.

FBI learned this same factory had orders for the same special types of airplane bolts from some airplane factories constructing giant flying fortresses for the army. Hoover's report to Murphy, however, said a careful investigation proved rather conclusively that none of the defective bolts had found its way into any army equipment, although this may have been the purpose of the plot.

Murphy and Hoover are inclined to suspect the skillful business was the work of radical extremists, perhaps communists, possibly nazis. Their investigation showed clearly that legitimate labor organizations were not involved in any way.

While the work was done with mechanical skill, the idea was crude and the result ineffective. Probably no more than two men could have been directly involved. But the case has put the justice department on its toes. It is a pointed illustrative example of the kind of undercover work which has been feared generally, now that Mr. Roosevelt has signed the congressional repeal of the arms embargo and embarked upon a program which will soon result in the production of thousands more planes for Britain and France.

Japan spoke back at the United States and at our Ambassador Joseph Grew through the "Institute of the Pacific." The institute warned that the position of Japan in China must be understood and accepted before current peace and trade negotiations can get to first base.

The Associated Press described the outfit as "composed of high ranking Japanese," but no one around here ever heard of it before. The Japan-Manchukuo yearbook of 1939 is supposed to list all such organizations. It has one chapter devoted to "Learned and Social Institutions." But it misses this one which is now talking to the United States on behalf of the Japanese government.

The Japanese are always organizing societies, some with secret support of the government. Many are formed by high ranking aristocrats connected with the administration. They try to get all the influential and intellectual members possible in order to sell the policies of the government to their people.

Whereas our domestic and foreign policies usually are determined by the pressure of the country upon the government and occasionally vice versa, the Japanese situation is always vice versa. Their people have been ruled by emotion rather than reason, and the emotion always originates at the top.

The more important news behind the incident, however, is the additional evidence it brings that some nations are embarking upon a new kind of diplomacy—the same muddling kind that brought war to Europe.

Instead of foreign offices adopting a clear policy and speaking it out straightforwardly as a basis of understanding and negotiations, some leading statesmen of the world have adopted unofficial third parties as their spokesmen. In Japan it may be societies, in YESTERDAY Higgins denies knowledge that Murchison was murdered, but says he saw a bloody paper on the path. The next day Gordon Deane's dog crops dead from meat the Forrester were planning to eat.

CHAPTER 27
DOG BURIAL

As Michael put the car into the garage at the side of the house he heard the sound of hammering coming from the Deane's. He went to the house, called in the money, over with Gordon, and went down the path and around to the other house. There, as he expected, he found Gordon out in the yard, finishing the lid on the box that was to serve as Fred's coffin. Gordon eyes looked as if they might have brimmed over at some not distant time, but Michael took no notice. He dropped down on one knee beside the lid, and put out a hand to the box.

"Good job there," he muttered. "Taken manual training lessons?" "Yes," said Gordon. He got up and carried the box to the gate, then lifted the dog's body, lying there beside the hedge wrapped in a torn blanket, and laid it gently in the coffin.

"Give me one end," Michael said briefly, and picked it up. Gordon led off into the woods, toward the river bank, and Michael followed. The box was very light. Fred had been only a small dog. The world, Michael reflected, was full of small dogs, but in Gordon's eyes there would never be another one exactly like Freddie.

The grave was already dug, lying open underneath a great pine tree almost on the edge of the river. They put the box down, and Gordon lifted it to set it softly in the hole. He turned away for a minute before they started heaping dirt upon it. Michael gathered an armful of pine branches, while Gordon was finishing, and brought them to lay on the top. Gordon stood up. He blew his nose. Michael took out his cigarette case, looked at it, then turned and held it out to Gordon.

"Have a cigarette," he said, as man to man. "No, thank you," Gordon shook his head. "Don't smoke," he said gruffly, and straightened his shoulders.

Through the thin fringe of trees between them, and the river, the sun was visible as through heavy lace. Gordon leaned his back against a tree and looked at it.

"Funny thing a fellow can't even have a dog," he said at last, with what was a nonchalance and ended with a hint of a catch in his throat.

Michael did not answer.

"Maybe they'll let me have a bike," Gordon said. "Mom thinks they're not safe."

"Not any too safe the way some kids ride through the traffic," Michael replied.

"Nothin's safe. I had a boat once. Mom never found it out. She'd have thrown a fit. Dad did have a fit when he found out I had it."

"How'd you get a boat without their knowing?"

"Found it. It floated down one spring, and stayed here all summer without anybody coming after it. I took it. Saved my money, and gave it a swell paint job, and fixed it all up. He scuffed at the pine needles. 'Can't have no boat,' he said."

"They take it away from you?"

"Who? Dad? No. Somebody swiped it."

"Maybe the owner found it."

"I'll get even."

"No chance," Michael said. "I kept it up a ravine with branches over it. If the owner had wanted it he'd come to a come for it sooner. It was my boat. No, somebody that I put in it took it. Watch where I put it out who, that's what I would. I bet it was the same guy poisoned Fred. You just wait. I'll get even with him."

"You're crazy," Michael said. "Who'd have it in for a kid?"

Gordon looked at him sidewise. "That's all right," he said at last, as if a little ashamed of himself. "I'll take care of that. I'm not such a kid, I'll show him."

"That's it. Who?" He looked at Michael directly. "You took that meat down town. I bet, to have them find out if it had poison. Didn't you?"

"It will. You mark my words." He chose his father's favorite phrase. "He poisoned my dog, and I'll sue get even."

Behind them the wood a slushy bird cheeped suddenly. Gordon jumped. "We better get home," he said in a low voice. He bent double, and darted off to the right with the speed of a startled rabbit. Michael followed quite unashamedly.

At the gate Gordon looked at him again. "It isn't so safe out there in the woods with robbers and poisoners around," he said in a low tone. "As you just remember, Michael Forrester, he didn't intend to get Freddie with that meat. It wasn't Freddie he was after."

In the study the two girls sat. Frope it is certainly the controlled press. During the City of Flint incident, for instance, the U. S. state department was not able to get a single word of diplomatic information out of Moscow. It learned actions of the Russian government only through news carried by Tass, the official Russian news agency. In other words, they read it in the newspapers.

Hitler commonly uses the same methods, as does Mussolini. Hitler's recent peace suggestions were given to the press in a nebulous form by a foreign office spokesman, and when they foundered, another spokesman said the first one had not known what he was talking about.

GUARDSMEN WILL BEGIN 'CONFLICT' COMING WEEK END

Illinois Troops To Get Training in Battle Maneuvers

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The problems of armed conflict will occupy nearly 11,000 Illinois National Guardsmen on "battle-grounds" throughout the state from this week until about December 1.

Mobilized for a week of additional training authorized by the war department, the various companies and regiments of the 33rd division and attached troops will assemble at camps and armories for week-end and seven-day maneuvers and imaginary battles. The regular training period is 15 days annually, mostly at Camp Grant, Rockford.

Units will be assigned to Camp Grant, Camp Logan at Zion, Camp Lincoln and the state fairgrounds at Springfield, the Cook county forest preserves, armories in Pontiac, Dixon, Rockford, Decatur, Salem, Danville and Peoria, and at other available quarters.

The eighth infantry, a Negro troop of 828 Chicagoans commanded by Col. William Warfield, was bivouacked today by Camp Grant in tents heated by the regulation Sibley stoves. The group will fire on the ranges through Wednesday and engage in battle maneuvers Friday. The battle problem will include night movements Thursday with compasses.

The second battalion of the 122nd field artillery was gathered this week at Camp Logan. The first battalion of the regiment will maneuver there next week, and the 108th observation regiment there next week-end.

"To defend" Capital
The 123rd Field Artillery, composed of about 700 troops in down-state companies, with the headquarters battalion, will "defend" the state capital next week in war games at Camp Lincoln and the state fairgrounds. Brig. Gen. Samuel L. Lawton of Chicago will be in command.

Acting with imaginary infantry, the artillery will set up heavy field pieces and fire sub-caliber shells from positions calculated to protect Springfield from an "enemy" which has captured Chicago and is moving southward across the state.

The 129th and 130th infantry regiments will drill by companies the week-end of November 11-12 and November 18-19 in Sycamore, Rockford, Pontiac, Ottawa, Dixon, Streator, Aurora, Yorkville, Kewanee, Joliet, Waukegan, Kankakee, Elgin, Sterling, Decatur, Salem, Mount Vernon, Quincy, Danville, Peoria, Delavan, Carbondale, Cairo, Lawrenceville and Paris.

These two regiments, which include about 2,000 troops of the 65th brigade under command of Brig. Gen. Diller S. Myers of Pontiac, will concentrate for three days of battle problems November 24, 25 and 26. The 129th will camp at Rockford, Dixon and Pontiac, in battalions of about 350 men each. The 130th will bivouac at Peoria, Decatur, Salem and Danville.

"Red" and "Blue" Forces
Each battalion will hold machine gun and rifle training and maneuvers, with "red" and "blue" forces engaging in sham battles. Regimental commanders and staffs also will hold command post exercises, including the movement of imaginary troops through a communications system.

Throughout next week, the 132nd infantry, 124th field artillery, 108th engineers and division special corps, a force of about 2,450 men, all of Chicago, will divide into two forces at Camp Grant for sham battles which will include tanks and aircraft. The artillery regiment will be conducting its first maneuvers as a motorized unit. The actual battle problem has not been announced.

The 202nd coast artillery will hold anti-aircraft training at Fort Sheridan November 25-December 1. The 108th medical regiment will hold week-end training in the Cook county forest preserve. Troop E, 116th cavalry, will train seven days at Fort Sheridan beginning November 26. The remainder of the troop will train at Urbana and Springfield November 11-12, November 18-19, November 25-26 and December 3.

The 108th quartermaster regiment will train at Camp Grant November 19-25.

Gen. Roy D. Keehn, 33rd division commander, will visit the various sites of the "war" throughout the maneuvers.

HE STAYS ON JOB
Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—A fledgling attorney just out of law school had no rebuttal when Deputy County Clerk Harry Russell told him, some papers he wanted to file weren't drawn properly.

"They've been drawn that way by others," contended the young barrister.

"Not for the past fifty years," Russell retorted.

And the deputy clerk should know. He's been handling those documents more than fifty years.

"Yah! You and your raft. . . Sometimes I wish we'd never escaped from Alcatraz!"

ELIMINATION OF DIPHTHERIA RISK IN DIXON SOUGHT

Health Agencies of City Cooperating in City-Wide Campaign

With all local physicians, school health nurses, state district health department and school officials cooperating, a program to eliminate the risk of diphtheria from the school children of Dixon will be started soon, according to an announcement by Dr. John B. Werren, Dixon's health officer. Every child in the school system who is susceptible to diphtheria will have an opportunity to be immunized against that disease by inoculation with toxoid, Dr. Werren said.

The program will be divided in two phases, the testing of children for susceptibility to diphtheria and the giving of toxoid to all susceptible children whose parents so desire.

On November 13 and 14 the Schick test, which shows susceptibility or immunity to diphtheria, will be offered to all school children above the fourth grade, including the high school. These tests will be done in the schools and without cost to the pupils. This test is not an inoculation, merely a test to determine whether or not a child could catch diphtheria.

On November 16 and 17 the results of the Schick tests will be interpreted. Children with positive reactions, which indicate susceptibility to diphtheria, will be advised to go to their family physicians for treatment with toxoid, which gives immunity to diphtheria.

Offer Treatments
Also on November 16 and 17, the first of the two necessary treatments with toxoid will be offered at the schools for all pupils below the fifth grade. No preliminary Schick test will be offered to this group because such a large proportion are known to be susceptible. Three weeks later the second treatment with toxoid will be offered to this group. For the toxoid treatments a charge of 50 cents per dose will be made.

Vaccination against smallpox will be urged for all unprotected children. This work will be done after the inoculations against diphtheria have been completed. A charge of $1.00 per vaccination will be made for the campaign.

All of the Dixon physicians are cooperating and will participate in the program. Parents are urged to take advantage of the special opportunity which will be offered to have their children protected against diphtheria and smallpox. Inoculation against diphtheria and vaccination against smallpox are highly recommended by the state department of public health. "More than a million and a half children have been immunized against diphtheria in Illinois during the last seventeen years with the result that the prevalence of diphtheria has been reduced by 90 per cent," according to Dr. A. C. Baxter, state director of public health. "The danger from diphtheria to non-immune children is just as great today as formerly, however. Diphtheria and smallpox can be prevented only so long as children are inoculated against them. The sooner this is done after six months of age, the better."

INDUSTRIAL BASKETBALL

Paul Potts who will manage the championship Knacks basketball team again this year today announced the players which have been assigned to the club's roster. Francis Henry and Bob Underwood, former Drake university athletes, will play at guard and forward, respectively; Clark from DeKalb college at guard and center; Sam Bellows, Ullrich, Al Boyd, Gene McNamara, and Paul Potts. Charles Roundy will again be coach of the squad. No definite plans have been formed for the industrial league, but action is expected nearly any day now.

FOLLOWERS OF THE PRO GAMES

Additional Dixonites who attended the pro football game between the Bears and Packers in Chicago Sunday afternoon were Kenneth Hasselberg, Edward Nicklaus, Stan Newberry, George O'Malley, Harry Wienman, Revere Reinhart and son, Douglas Curran and Cy Winebrenner.

NEXT AND FINAL GAME

The revived Dixon high school team, more optimistic than a week ago, goes to Sterling next Friday night to end the 1939 campaign against the traditional rivals. A Sterling-Dixon game is always a heated affair, and more so this season with the locals fighting for a little warmth from the conference sun. No major change will result in the league standings with the championship already in the hands of DeKalb, but none of the fire or enthusiasm is lacking. Belvidere defeated Sterling last week by the same score which the Boone county warriors used to trounce Dixon here, 19 to 6, which observers believe puts the traditional rivals on a more even basis for the final game. Dixon's victory over Princeton was the big thrill thus far in the season for the local fans and the team is out now to show it was no fluke.

Cleveland Tribe to Go in Disguise to Baseball Meetings Next Month

Cleveland, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians' David Harman are going to next month's baseball meetings disguised as introverts.

"We'll have our eyes and ears open," said bespectacled Vice President C. C. Slapnicka today, "but we'll let the other clubs come to us."

Last winter the tribal bigwigs went as extroverts. Amid much hallyhoo they put half the club on the block, departed with high hopes and came back empty-handed.

The Indians aren't satisfied with a third-place ball club—even in the Yankees' American League—but the unexpected development of infield rookies late last summer sowed the seeds of their new independence.

Since the prime days of Shortstop Joe Sewell and Second Baseman Bill Wambach, a long string of tribal managers has tried countless players at the two positions.

Now Lou Boudreau, up from Buffalo; Ray Mack, a home town boy; and Oscar Grimes, the infield jack-of-all-trades, have the fans talking. Good-looking Boudreau, once a star at Illinois, looked like the find of the year in the short field, Grimes, the team's most aggressive player, and Mack, perhaps a little green yet, sparked at second. For insurance the club has purchased Russ Peters, crack shortstop of the Atlanta Southern Association club.

Could Use Pitcher

"We could use another pitcher who would win 15 games," said Slapnicka, the "discoverer" of 24-game winner Bob Feller, "but then, who couldn't? We aren't going to trade any of the hurlers whose work in the closing weeks put us in third place."

(This presumably means Feller, Mel Harder, Al Milnar and Harry Eisentat.)

Manager Oscar Vitt said recently, however, that any pitcher except Feller might be swapped in a "right" deal.

The Redskins could best bait their hook with pitchers and catchers. They want a right-handed hitting outfielder and have some fingers who might do better elsewhere and two of the league's best catchers in Rollie Hemsley and Frankie Fytlak.

It's hard to find out just who would be traded—it's part of that introvert act.

Having fired nine players, YALE COACH BUCKLES DOWN TO WORK FOR BROWN BATTLE

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7.—Having fired nine regulars from the varsity with the comment that his Yale eleven was "the worst team I think I've ever seen on a Yale field," Coach Ducky Pond buckled down to work today for Saturday's stiff tussle with Brown.

The only three regulars to survive Pond's wrath in the wake of Yale's 33-0 drubbing Saturday at Dartmouth's hands were Capt. Bill Stack, center; Bob Brooks, tackle; and Ted Harrison, a sub back. All the other positions, Ducky declared, were wide open and that, he indicated, meant wide open to the men who were

TEXAS AGGIES TO MEET SMU IN BIG BATTLE OF WEEK

Notre Dame Takes Second In AP Vote for Best Team in Nation

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Although Tennessee is again rated the best football team in the country, the outstanding game on this week's schedule is Texas A and M. against Southern Methodist.

That much probably could be figured out by any fan without the assistance of the weekly Associated Press national football ranking poll, but the tabulated votes of the experts prove it.

Tennessee, for the third straight week, is ranked far ahead of all rivals. The Vols, riding high on last Saturday's 20-0 triumph over Louisiana State, polled the first-place votes of 88 of the 118 participants and a total of 1,114 points this week. But next Saturday they go into hibernation again, meeting the Citadel of Charleston, S. C., last-place team of the Southern Conference.

Meanwhile Texas Aggies, placed first by six of the experts and ranked third for the week with a total of 854 points, encounter the Southern Methodist Mustangs in what may be the deciding game of the Southwest Conference race. Smu landed in 14th place in this week's ranking with 69 points.

Notre Dame vs. Iowa

That game is the only one between teams which were placed in the first 20, but Notre Dame, the second-place club, runs up against Iowa, which earned a single tenth-place vote and Tulane, eighth on the list, meets Alabama, which drew eight points.

Notre Dame just did beat out Texas A. and M. for second place, moving up two notches from fourth while the Aggies jumped from sixth to third. Michigan, second a week ago, skidded back to ninth place as a result of their defeat by Illinois.

Standings of the teams (points figured on 10-9-8-7-6, etc. Bases, with first-place votes in parentheses):

Team	Points
1. Tennessee (88)	1,114
2. Notre Dame (11)	857
3. Texas A. and M. (6)	854
4. Sou. California (6)	799
5. Cornell (1)	709
6. Oklahoma (3)	622
7. North Carolina	391½
8. Tulane	390½
9. Michigan	104
10. (Tie) Ohio State	102
10. (Tie) U. C. L. A.	102

Other Point-Winners

Second Ten: 12. Duquesne, 86; 13. Dartmouth, 70; 14. Southern Methodist, 69; 15. Santa Clara, 58; 16. Duke, 46; 17. New York U., 24; 18. Kentucky, 23; 19. San Jose (Calif.) State, 12; 20. Mississippi, 9.

Also Ran—Alabama, 8; Nebraska and Clemson, 7 each; Northwestern, 6; Holy Cross, 5; Purdue, 4; Missouri and Fordham, 2 each; Catholic University, Georgetown, Iowa, Texas, Carnegie Tech and Oregon State, 1 each.

This week's games should help the experts decide which are the best teams, for most of the leaders play traditional enemies which are strong even though they're not ranked.

Southern California, for example, has its annual battle with Stanford; Cornell meets its neighbor Colgate; Oklahoma plays Kansas State; North Carolina meets Davidson and Michigan faces Minnesota. U. C. L. A. has an open date while Ohio State has the next best thing—a game with Chicago.

SIX DAY BIKE RACE

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Letourner-Reboul and Debaets-Thomas teams were tied for first place as the 42nd international six day bicycle race at the Chicago Stadium reached its 28th hour at 1 a. m. today.

DeBaets caused a 15-minute delay in the race when he took a bad spill and required medical aid.

The 1 a. m. standings, 28th hour:

It Has Been A Long Time Between Upsets
For Zuppke; But He Makes Up For Losses

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Robert Carl Zuppke, 60-year-old University of Illinois coach, isn't known as one of the country's easiest football teachers for nothing.

It has been a long time between upsets these past few years, but the wily Dutchman made up for lost time last week when the Illini astounded the football faithful by whipping Michigan's hitherto undefeated eleven in decisive fashion.

Zuppke and his teams have been sneaking up on the blind side of powerful opponents for many years.

"Just like Minnesota in 1916," said Zuppke after Saturday's game in explanation of the upset 16-7 victory. That was the year the Gophers' "dream team" rolled over all its opponents up to the Illinois game by scores of 46 to 0 or worse, its victims including eleven at Iowa, Wisconsin and Chicago.

Illinois had lost two games and rated not even an outside chance to win. Walter Camp, father of the "All-America" selections and an astute grid critic, came west to see the slaughter, but instead saw Zuppke's eleven clip the Gophers, 14 to 9.

Situation Somewhat the Same

The situation was somewhat the same last week. Illinois had lost three and tied one game, scoring only six points. But they simply would not be downed, stopping sensational Tom Harmon and all the others.

"All our men were functioning effectively for the first time this season," said Zuppke. "That Harmon is a great back, don't take any credit away from him. The boys were just determined to stop him. My boys had everything to gain and nothing to lose and the game was a challenge to them. If they were to make anything out of the season, they had to do it against Michigan."

In 1921 Zuppke pulled another big upset. That was the year Ohio State needed only a victory over the Illini, which had not won a conference game, for a share of the title. Eleven men played the entire game and won on an intercepted pass, 7 to 0.

So-Called Armistice in Politics Terminated

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The final twist of the pen that repealed the arms embargo put an end to the so-called political armistice which has existed for the past two months.

Republicans now are free to take a pot-shot at Democrats wherever they catch them. Anti-new dealers can return to their sport of gunning for the administration.

The brief truce gave both parties a chance to take stock of their situation, however, even though it was not a complete truce in the full meaning of the word.

Neither the Republicans, the anti-new dealers nor the new dealers wholly laid down their arms. They simply brought their guns to a "rest" position, butts on the ground, and kept a tight back on the barrel, to be able to snap back quickly to a firing stance.

All sorts of jockeying went on in the interim. The Republicans sought to maneuver themselves into a situation where the leap year election light would depict them as the peace party. Democrats generally joined in combatting this effort.

Some Republicans argued that it would do their party no good if their vote on embargo repeal reflected partisanship. Nevertheless, more than one voted like the far western member whose friend met him in a Capitol corridor last Friday and asked him when he was going home.

"Tonight," replied the westerner. "I've already made reservations and bought my ticket. But I'm going to vote not to adjourn."

Chicago Students Plan Action Over Football Problem

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Daily Maroon, University of Chicago student newspaper, reported today that 500 "loyal graduates" were planning a "secret meeting to decide on a way" to solve the school's football dilemma.

The paper did not disclose the time or place of the meeting, but said further details would be published later in the week. Chicago will observe homecoming this week end when the grid team meets Ohio State's powerful machine.

The paper, in an editorial, also lambasted the school's football policy and suggested the alumni be encouraged to "buy us a good football team."

The editorial said, in part: "The university has failed to encourage its football-minded alumni enough so that they would be induced to give additional money for athletic scholarships,

Predict Winter Wheat Crop To Be Lower In '40
Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The first estimates of probable United States winter wheat production in 1940 have predicted the crop would be sharply below normal as a result of an unprecedented fall drought in the southwest.
Crop experts here who made tentative forecasts seven months before the harvest said current poor conditions indicated production might fall to 375,000,000 to 415,000,000 bushels. This would compare with the 1939 harvest of 550,710,000 bushels.
The domestic winter wheat harvest has fallen below 400,000,000 bushels only once in many years—in 1935, when the crop was only 376,518,000 bushels, partly as a result of a dry spell the previous fall.
The average of five experts' estimates on 1939 crop production was 2,555,000,000 bushels, which if borne out by final harvest returns, would give the United States its largest corn harvest, with the exception of 1937, in seven years. Last year's harvest totaled 2,542,238,000 bushels and in 1937 the harvest was 2,651,284,000 bushels.
Individual estimates of probable winter wheat acreage ranged from 42,501,000 to 43,317,000 acres. The area seeded last fall totaled 46,173,000 acres. The government increased its wheat acreage allotment this year.

Discuss Saving Wild Life Along the Mississippi
Winona, Minn., Nov. 7.—(AP)—A picture of dead fish life and a ruined half million dollar muskrat crop along the Mississippi river was drawn today as half a hundred conservationists and army engineers sat down at a conference to discuss a proposed lowering of the pool levels of the river this winter.
Leading a large delegation of Isak Walton League members here from Dubuque, Ia., C. R. Hall, well-known Iowa conservationist, said in an interview just before the start of the conference:
"The proposed lowering of the pool levels of the river means that it will wipe out all bass and game fishing in Dubuque, Rock Island and the Davenport area."
The conference, sponsored by the Walton League, was presided over by Paul Clement, St. Paul, president of the Minnesota chapter. In attendance were state conservation department officials from the United States bureau of fisheries and biological survey and members of Walton chapters of four states.
Also arriving was a group of army engineers headed by Col. Malcolm Elliott of St. Louis, division engineer, who said he would explain what the engineers intended to do with the pool levels.
The army has proposed to lower the pool levels of various upper river dams to create a greater flow of water to the lower river and improve navigation, which has been interfered with by the drought in the southern Mississippi valley. Engineers also said the lower levels would protect river structures from ice.
Besides destruction of fish, Walton League members contended that reduction of the upper river water levels would leave muskrats "high and dry", ruining a fur crop estimated at $1,000,000 annually in the four states.

Introduce Resolution In House of Commons For Financing War
London, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, introduced a resolution in the House of Commons today to empower the treasury to borrow up to £250,000,000 (about $1,000,000,000) for financing the war.
The chancellor described the resolution as "similar to those given by the war loans act passed annually."

Election in 17 Counties Watched by Politicos

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Democratic and Republican leaders watched closely today's voting in 17 downstate counties in each of which a county commissioner was to be elected for a three year term.
Weather was "perfect"—sunny and warmer than usual—but the balloting was expected to be light in most of the counties. Today's voting affected only counties with commission form of government.
Political control of only three county boards was at stake in Randolph, Wabash and Williamson counties, where the term of one of the two Democrats had expired.
Democrats now control 11 of the three-member boards and Republicans the remaining six.
Other counties holding elections are Alexander, Calhoun, Edwards, Hardin, Johnson, Massac, Monroe, Perry, Pope, Pulaski, Union, Morgan and Scott.

There were local propositions put to referendum today in a few counties. In Johnson county, voters balloted upon a $106,000 refunding bond calculated to relieve the county's outstanding indebtedness and put the county on a cash basis.
In Alexander and Pope counties where boards are under Republican control, there was no opposition to Republican candidates.
Possible changes of party trends in ballot were apparently considered by politicians the most significant feature of the contests. A change might be taken as an indication of how the counties may go in the 1940 elections when presidential gubernatorial and other state offices will be at stake.

Nazi Press Criticizes Meeting of Belgian and Netherlands Rulers
Berlin, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The Berlin press, with a unanimity indicating orders from higher up, today criticized in identical words the meeting of King Leopold of the Belgians with Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands.
"Alleged defense by neutrals against England's blockade practice, contrary to international law as it is, has been restricted to paper protests and lame resolutions behind closed doors," all the papers said.
Captions over dispatches from the Hague indicated German dissatisfaction.
"Paper protests—the royal visit in Holland," said a headline in Der Angriff, organ of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels.
"Once again a lame resolution?" asked a Nachtausgabe caption.
The standardized comment said "the possibilities for the cause of neutrals, as offered in the fuhrer's peace speech, have been in no wise taken advantage of by them x x x."
"In any case the neutrals only too subserviently have been steaming into the Downs and passing under the x x x British blockade."

U-Boats of Belligerents Banned From Panama
Panama, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Submarines of belligerent nations were prohibited from entering Panamanian waters, ports, havens or anchorages except in cases of emergency, in a government decree issued today.
The measure was aimed to prevent violation of Panama's neutrality or of rendering invalid the "effects of the Panama declaration relative to the continental maritime security zone."
"The republic of Panama on Sept. 11 prohibited ships of belligerent powers from 'shuttling' between the Canal zone and Panamanian waters. This meant that a belligerent merchantman which already had spent the three months permitted by international law in a Canal zone port could not then move to Panamanian waters for a similar period of refuge."

INDUSTRIALISTS FACE PROBLEMS OF EXPANSIONS

Next Few Weeks Expected To Give Decision on Big Outlays
New York, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Hard-headed chiefs of the United States great industrial machine today faced the problem of gearing up to war-time needs with expenditure of huge sums for plant expansion.
Capacity or near-capacity operations in steel, machine tool, aircraft manufacturing and other important industries forced executives of many companies to ponder the wisdom of spending money for additional capacity to handle war orders, actual or prospective.
Already there has been cautious stepping up of plant expenditures in aircraft, steel, electric power, oil and chemical industries.
Engineering News-Record, a trade publication, reported October awards for industrial building, such as new factories and power plants, totaled $49,910,000 against $12,814,000 in October, 1938. The total surpassed the $41,325,000 in October, 1937, the previous big year of plant expansion since the 1929 Wall Street crash cut the flow of capital into investment.

Next Few Weeks To Tell
An official of a leading engineering firm said the next few weeks would reveal whether American industry was prepared to plunge into the heaviest spending of the past decade for plant improvements.
Many corporation heads are giving the matter close study because of the exhaustion in available capacity by the business upswing and prospects of war business, he said. "But at the moment there seems to be a tendency to wait and see just how much of the talk-of-war orders will become reality."
Most executives approached for comment agreed that business expansion had proceeded to a stage where larger spending for new plants would be necessary if industry holds its gains.
Rated one of the main drawbacks was the suspension of corporate financing since the start of the war. However, the financial district has high hopes for resumption soon of financing. Bankers are preparing to test the market about the middle of November with a large public utility re-funding operation—a $42,225,000 refunding and note issue of the Jersey Central Power & Light Co.

Power in Demand
Utility companies, to meet record-breaking demand for electric power, have increased capital programs considerably the past few months. Some trade sources forecast that 1940 would see the heaviest spending in that field since 1930.
The steel industry, keystone of mechanized warfare, has pushed production to the highest operation rate since 1929 and to a record ingot output on basis of enlarged capacity. The United States Steel Corp. pointed the way with recently announced plans for increasing its Irvin works at Clairton, Pa., involving construction of three new mills expected to cost upward of $10,000,000.

Town Topics

William Blumhert and Charles Suning of Elmhurst were guests several days of the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kersten.

Miss Dorothy Kuethe, a graduate of the local high school with the class of '39, enrolled at the Metropolitan business college in Rockford for the winter term, yesterday morning. Dorothy is taking a private secretarial science course.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rettkie of Palmyra township visited Sunday at the home of Mrs. Rettkie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Krug and family, at Rockford.

Mr. John Borner of Odebolt, Iowa was a Sunday afternoon guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Kaecker, Mrs. Borner was called to Lee Center for the death of her mother, Elizabeth Hillison, last week and has remained for a visit with relatives and friends in this community.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Travis were entertained at dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollenbeck in Rockford.

Richard Bailey and Wallace Yenerlich, both students at North Central college at Naperville, were guests over Saturday night and Sunday at the home of Wallace's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Yenerlich.

Mr. and Mrs. Justus Wagner were guests over Friday night at the home of their son Harrison Wagner and family at Riverside. The Wagner family enroute to Bradenton, Fla., where they have a winter home.

The auditorium of the Evangelical church was nicely filled on Friday evening with an audience of about 100 for the play, "The House on the Sand," presented by a group of players from Grace Evangelical church in Dixon. Other social events prevented some from attending. The free-will offering was $10.00 and was divided between the two churches.

At North Central Homecoming Rev. H. R. Zager, sons Edward and Carl and daughter Myra, F. Zager, daughter Esther, Evelyn, Frances and John Kersten, Paul Jennings and George Yenerlich motored to Naperville Saturday and attended the homecoming activities at North Central college. Included in the morning program was a pushball contest between the frosh and sophs. The freshmen were victorious over their upper classmates. Richard Bailey and Wallace Yenerlich of this place participated in this event.

Shortly after the noon hour, a gigantic parade, featuring floats from all sections of the campus, formed at Old Main and led by the college band paraded through the main part of town and then out to the football field. Here the Red and Black gridgers from Lake Forest, supported by approximately 300 boosters, were ready to meet the North Central team. Lake Forest was the game by a score of 25 to 0.

The evening's program included the annual homecoming banquet and a play entitled "Land Ho, Sailor!" The Ashtonites were unable to remain for the evening events. While at Naperville, they enjoyed visiting with Ruth Boyd and Wallace Yenerlich, both students at North Central from here.

A Neighboring Deed
About twenty-five neighbors and friends of Gale Sanders came to his home last Thursday and harvested his corn crop for him. Mr. Sanders was injured in an auto accident early this fall and has been unable to do his work. He was a patient at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital in Dixon until last week. His many friends are glad to know that he has recovered sufficiently to be home now, but returns for treatment twice a week. Mrs. Sanders gave the men dinner and the family is certainly very grateful to those who were so kind to them. The Sanders family live on the O. W. Griffith farm north of town.

Y. P. M. C. Program
A fine audience was present at the Evangelical church on Sunday evening to listen to the program presented by the Young People's Missionary Circle. A playlet entitled "Aunt Margaret's Tenth" was given by Ruth Kersten, Mary Pretzing, Ruth Heibner, Lois Kuehn, and George Stephan and Minerva Proulx. The evening's program included a devotional period, and various musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental. An offering for the missions was received. The next meeting of the circle will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 13, in the church parlors.

Husbands' Night
On Friday evening, when members of the local Women's club entertained their husbands at a pot luck supper in the parlors of the Methodist church, there were about 90 in attendance. A large amount of food satisfied all the hungry folk. A string ensemble furnished the music during the supper hour. The ensemble was composed of Mrs. Otto W. Schade, of Ashton, violin, and S. R. Samelson, pianist, both of Dixon. Immediately after supper, Frank Colehour of Rockford entertained with four reels of colored pictures, covering territory through Canada, Nova Scotia and states in the Northwest.

The committee who arranged the evening's program and assisted in serving the meal was: Mesdames A. R. Kersten, Adam Witze, George Schade, George Schade, Carl Cross, A. C. Nandiv, Fred J. Kersten, Roy Faber, Bert Reed, and Henry Schabacker Jr., and Miss Lillian Haenisch.

Family Night
On Thursday evening of this week, members of the Bradford unit of Home Bureau with their families will gather at the Lee Center high school gymnasium for a family reunion. The supper will be served at 6:30 and recreational games will occupy the evening hours. All members of this unit with their families are invited to be present.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

THE QUESTION OF WHETHER OR NOT THE PLANET MARS IS INHABITED IS NO NEARER A SOLUTION SINCE THE PLANET'S RECENT CLOSE APPROACH TO THE EARTH.

ALUMINUM IS THE MOST ABUNDANT METAL IN THE EARTH'S CRUST.

WHAT IS MEANT BY "BOXING THE COMPASS"?

ANSWER: It is a sea phrase which means an enumeration of the various points, half points and quarter points of the mariner's compass in their proper order.

NEXT: Has the Thanksgiving date been changed before?

YOU KIN LAUGH, BUT I'M DETERMINED THAT I'M GOIN' TO TAKE A BOOK WITH ME LIKE
GOLDIE--AND MAYBE GET SO IF I HAVE TOO MUCH PLEASURE
I CAN ENJOY A LITTLE STUDY!

OH, I WON'T FEEL GUILTY OF
BEIN' A LOAFER
AN' IDLER WITH YOU WITH A BOOK--SO GO RIGHT AHEAD--
YOU WON'T SPOIL MY

BECAUSE I KNOW
YOU WOULDN'T MOVE A PRESSED LEAF OR BUTTER-FLY TO READ UNDER THEM!

GOSH, LOOK AT THE ONE-WAN!
MOB SCENE!
BUCK UP,
MAJOR,
HE'S JUST TALKING TO KEEP HIS

MILLION GIVEN WORK IN SAVING OF HUMAN LIVES

Red Cross Active All Year Round in Life- Saving Field

The American Red Cross this year marked its first quarter-century of teaching scientific water safety by swelling its nation-wide force of life savers over the million mark.

E. A. Rowley, chairman of life saving, Lee County Red Cross chapter, declared yesterday.

In coastal and inland waters as well as the thousands of swimming pools throughout the country, Mr. Rowley pointed out, this vast army of volunteers is waging a constant battle against drowning—a national catastrophe which annually takes some 7,500 lives.

Mr. Rowley said that during the past year, 100,361 persons passed courses in life saving given by qualified Red Cross examiners and, in addition, approximately 150,000 persons were granted awards after completing courses in swimming and water safety.

In the classes sponsored by the Lee County chapter conducted by Kenneth Abbott, a Red Cross Life Saving Examiner, a total of 18 hours instruction was given to 22 persons. Over 90 per cent of the class had learned correct swimming methods by the close of the period. These classes in swimming are open to all and next summer it is hoped many groups will take advantage of the training offered by the Lee County Chapter Red Cross.

Cuts Loss One Third
"Since the Red Cross issued its first life saving certificate in 1914," Mr. Rowley said, "loss of life by drowning has been cut nearly a third despite the greatly increased numbers of persons participating in water sports. Red Cross estimates indicate that approximately 80 million persons take part in water activities in one form or another each year, yet only a relatively small per cent of this large group can be classified as capable of adequately handling themselves in deep water during an emergency."

"For this reason, the Red Cross is preparing to expand its teaching facilities in swimming and life saving. Plans call for an increased number of summer aquatic schools to qualify instructors to aid chapters in their community programs. Last year the Red Cross increased its number of summer schools to 17, an addition of three camps more than the preceding year. Located strategically throughout the country, these camps this year trained 2,200 leaders in advanced water safety."

Year-Round Program
Mr. Rowley declared that Red Cross water courses are carried on by 1,610 chapters throughout the country, most of them maintaining a year-round program. Holders of life saving certificates, he stated, are not only trained in the various methods of rescuing drowning persons, but are qualified to administer preliminary first aid treatment while awaiting the arrival of a physician.

In describing the need for expanding the life saving program, Mr. Rowley pointed out that instruction work is made possible by the support of the country during Roll Call, to be held this year November 11 through November 30. "This year," he said, "the Red Cross is appealing to the nation for a million more members so that its services may be made available to additional thousands of persons. I feel confident that our community will, as it has in the past, be well represented when tabulations on memberships are completed."

Analysis—

avorable opportunity arose. This he proceeded to put into effect.

Then along in 1935 began the period of "what's yours is mine" in Europe and the Far East. The far-sighted Stalin foresaw a period of strife approaching, and the comintern executives decided that this would give them the opportunity they needed.

It was determined to drop the slogan of "world revolution" and substitute that of "peace." The idea was to pit the forces of peace and war in the various disturbed countries against each other in an effort to cause civil strife.

Out of this amazing situation would come the equivalent of the world revolution, and communism would be extended to the four corners of the earth.

This historical background accords with the appeal to the British and French workers. This is, of course, in its essence an appeal for revolt.

Those who are making what the manifesto characterizes as "imperialistic" war in England and France are the governments of those countries. It is accepted generally that to "go against" one's government when it is at war is an act of sedition.

Europe at war is the field for which the communists have been waiting. They believe it will provide fertile soil for the seed of communism.

Soviet Premier Molotov in a speech yesterday summed up the Russian viewpoints succinctly and graphically. He asserted that half the world is at war because of conflict in Europe, and declared the capitalist system is sure to fall now.

The workers and peasants, added Molotov, no longer will put up with capitalists, especially those who want to right under the pretext of "defense of democracy."

The smartmanner in which Stalin annexed eastern Poland and sovietized it, and then took control of the Baltic states, was a fair indication of the trend of affairs. Observers generally concluded that time for another big communistic drive in Europe was approaching.

There was no indication, however, that this would come so soon. Apparently the trend of affairs has been such that the comintern felt it wise to move immediately. The twenty-second anniversary of the bolshevik revolution has given the opportunity for the attack on capitalism and the manifesto.

Hopping the Atlantic from Europe, the United States also appears to look like pretty fertile ground to Earl Browder, secretary of the communist party in this country, who has received encouragement from Moscow.

His Boston speech calling on his followers to achieve socialism here contained the interesting declaration that America "despite the political backwardness as yet of our working class, is technically, objectively, the country which is most ripe, the most prepared for a quick transition to socialism, for which it lacks only the understanding and the will of the masses to that goal."

Boy Acquitted Monday of Murder of Farmer

Toulon, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)—A Stark county Circuit court jury acquitted Edgar Junior Lodwick, 16, of Duncan, Ill., June 21.

The jury of eight men and four women deliberated an hour before returning the verdict yesterday.

State's Attorney Marshall Faw declared Lodwick shot Rude to death in order to steal the farmer's automobile. Lodwick and his brother, Clifford, 13, testified, however, that Edgar shot at a brown thrush while they were hunting and accidentally hit Rude.

Clifford said they took Rude's automobile because they were frightened. A murder charge against Clifford was not pressed, but both boys still face charges of burglary and larceny of the automobile and a gun.

TO INVESTIGATE DEATH

SOVEREIGNS OF BELGIUM, NETH- ERLANDS CONFER

Believed To Have Talked of Ways To Keep Out of Conflict

The Hague, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Leopold, king of the Belgians, and Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands engaged today in apparently urgent talks aimed, observers believed, at keeping their countries out of war and protecting their vital interests.

There were suggestions that the two lowland states, lying between Europe's great warring powers, were seeking to reconcile divergent foreign policies and present a joint neutrality front.

Leopold arrived late last evening after a hurried motor trip from Brussels and proceeded at once to the Noordeinde palace, where he conferred with Wilhelmina until 1:30 A. M.

It was learned that the Belgian sovereign originally had planned to return to Brussels early today but postponed his departure pending further talks.

Participating in the conference were Wilhelmina's Foreign Minister, Eelco van Kleffens, and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak, who came here with Leopold.

News Leaks Out
Efforts were made to keep the visit a secret, but placing of a heavy military guard outside the palace caused the news to leak out. An official announcement issued after midnight noted Leopold's arrival but did not comment on the reason for the visit.

Informed sources said only that Leopold had come here to "discuss some aspects of the international situation." These sources disclaimed knowledge of any new move by Germany which might have motivated the conversations.

Usually competent authorities said it was unlikely that the two sovereigns were considering a peace move.

Possibility of a mutual assistance pact between the nations also was generally discounted. The two states have followed divergent foreign policies in recent years. While Belgium has accepted guarantees from both Germany and Great Britain, the Netherlands has declined to accept pledges from either.

199 YEARS FOR SLAYER
Chicago.—(AP)—Sentence of 199 years in prison was imposed on Yorkie Bodden, 24, after he was convicted of murdering Ann Riemer, 25, on Aug. 11. Police Capt. Daniel Gilbert said Bodden related he killed Miss Riemer because she opposed his love affair with her sister, Florence, 22.

TRAFFIC FATALITY
Kankakee, Ill.—(AP)—An automobile driven by Harry Bryan of Sullivan, Mo., struck and killed Mrs. Hermine Burt, 75, in front of her home along U. S. highway 52 last night. Bryan told police she started in front of his car from the opposite side of the road.

Expects Women to Bring Some Logic to Laws

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Women on juries, Corporation Counsel Barnett Hodges observed today, may serve to bring some logic to municipal law.

In a lecture prepared for his class at Northwestern University the chief of Chicago's legal department expressed hope that "the fine logic of the feminine mind" would work to straighten out "the absurd inconsistencies of municipal law which plague cities all over America."

Illinois women won the right to sit on juries several months ago. "I shall not be surprised," Hodges said, "to see women juries express impatience with such circuitous legal theories as decree that there is a difference between breaking one's neck over a hole in a city street and a hole in a boulevard maintained by the park district."

He explained that Illinois law allows the collection of damages against the city, but not against the park district, and added optimistically:

"Even if the masculine mind still pretends to find some valid distinction in such circumstances, the women are sure to pry behind such legal hocus-pocus and conclude that a neck broken on a park street is just as fractured as one broken on a city street."

Some Oddities of Day's Polls Reported by AP

(By The Associated Press)
Nauvoo, Pa., Nov. 7.—William A. Lewis says if he is elected to borough council today he'll resign immediately.

Lewis, a Republican nominee, complained to the county election board that he didn't even win the nomination, but was informed there was no time to change the ballot.

Swoyerville, Pa., Nov. 7.—John Greulca was busy yesterday campaigning for borough constable, but today he's not a candidate. A last-minute re-check of primary votes showed he had been credited with 10 votes too many. That gave the nomination to his opponent.

Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—Today's election may show whether type-size has anything to do with political successes. A council candidate complained that his name on the ballot was printed smaller than the others. Officials said it was too long for the allotted space.

Junction, Utah, Nov. 7.—Seething last spring with political strife and talk of recall, Junction holds its municipal election today. But there are no candidates. A quorum failed to appear at a nominating meeting.

SCATTERED CITY AND STATE POLLS IN NATION TODAY

Elections Offer Nothing in Way of Test on National Issues

(By The Associated Press)
Scattered city and state elections offered no clear-cut test on national issues today, but referendum on questions ranging from old-age pensions to pari-mutuel betting bobbed the "off-year" balloting of its usual lethargy.

Interest centered largely on old age pension proposals in California and Ohio. The California plan would give up to $30 every Thursday to unemployed persons over 50, under a law similar to one rejected there last year. Payments would be made in state script redeemable after a year, provided a two-cent stamp tax was attached every week.

The Ohio plan has been advocated by Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati clergyman. It calls for pensions, supplementing other income, to provide total payments of $50 a month to retired single persons over 60 and $80 monthly to couples. A state income tax and a levy on high-priced real estate would finance it.

A referendum on sanctioning pari-mutuel betting at race tracks was the only statewide question before New York voters. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt were at their Hyde Park, N. Y., home to vote in an effort to dislodge some of the local Republican office holders.

Prohibition Indiana Issue
Prohibition was an issue in Indiana, where towns of less than 3,000 population were electing town officials. Dry forces concentrated on candidates pledged to oppose issuance of local liquor licenses.

One of the few contests bearing even remotely on Roosevelt's policies was in Kentucky where Gov. Keen Johnson, Democrat who succeeded Gov. A. B. Chandler when the latter resigned to be appointed to the Senate, sought election to the office he now holds. His Republican opponent, Circuit Judge King Swope, criticized the national administration in his campaign.

The only other gubernatorial election was in Mississippi, where Paul B. Johnson, Democrat, was unopposed.

National affairs were mentioned also in Philadelphia's mayoral race, Robert C. White, Democrat, was opposed by Robert E. Lambertson, Republican, who argued that a Democratic victory would diminish the national prestige of the Republican party.

Mayoral Contests
Detroit's mayoral contest involved

ed disputed claims of labor support. Edward Jeffries, Jr., president of the city council, sought to defeat Mayor Richard Reading, who was elected two years ago over the opposition of the CIO.

The non-partisan race for mayor in Cleveland lay between Mayor Harold H. Burton and John E. O'Donnell.

San Francisco voters had eight candidates from whom to choose a mayor. Angelo J. Rossi, the incumbent, sought a third four-year term; his principal opponent was Frank R. Havenner, Democratic Representative in Congress.

Trapping Season To Open Here Nov. 15th

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Illinois landowners, tenants or their children can capture fur-bearing animals this year without a license on land where they actually reside—provided they secure a permit from the conservation department and don't use more than 25 traps.

The trapping season opens Nov. 15 in the northern and central zones and Dec. 1 in the southern zone.

The exemption was inserted during changes in the game laws by the legislature last spring. In addition to the permit, trap tags must also be obtained from the department. The tags are required for all trappers.

If more than 25 traps are used, a trapper must obtain the regular license costing two dollars.

'Hypnotic' Kisser to Prison for Long Time

San Francisco, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Jesse Ray Mowery, 43, whose two wives said he kissed with "hypnotic" power, was headed for Folsom prison today to serve two consecutive terms of from one to 10 years for grand theft.

He was convicted of stealing $2,000 from Mrs. Vivian Korth, 32, of Martinez, and $2,000 from Mrs. Auna Vina Smith, 41, of San Francisco, each of whom he wed about two years ago. He was sentenced yesterday.

The women testified his kisses had a strangely narcotic effect. A bigamy charge against Mowery was dropped.

Russia Displays Military Might in Preparedness

Moscow, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Soviet Russia capped her celebration of the 22nd anniversary of the communist revolution with a display of military might today as War Commissar Klementi Voroshiloff warned that though neutral, the nation "must be prepared."

Voroshiloff spoke briefly in red square, through which thousands of troops marched in a parade that lasted more than an hour and one-half.

"The Soviet government watches the international situation and will react to every event," Voroshiloff declared after praising the work of soviet troops in Poland and Outer Mongolia.

Mechanized units, including 206 medium-sized tanks, formed a large part of the military display.

Prefacing the parade was the keynote speech of Premier-Foreign Commissar Molotov last night. He predicted the end of capitalism and inferentially urged communists in foreign countries to work toward that aim.

"The names of Lenin and Stalin arouse bright hopes in every corner of the world and resound as a call to fight for peace and the happiness of nations, to fight for complete emancipation from capitalism," Molotov said.

Referring to economic crises since 1929, in which he specifically mentioned the United States, Great Britain and France, Molotov suggested:

"Is any further proof needed to show that the internal affairs of capitalist countries are in a very bad way indeed, that discontent is naturally gathering among their exploited and oppressed masses and that everything is making for new and inevitable outbreaks against the power of capitalism?"

More than 2000 units, made up of more than 15,000 parts, go into the manufacture of an automobile.

500,000 Seedlings to Be Furnished State

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP)—State Forester Anton J. Tomasek said today that approximately 500,000 tree seedlings have been furnished for fall reforestation in Illinois.

Tomasek has charge of the state's program which he said is to aid in the reforestation of approximately 3,000,000 acres of land too eroded or infertile to produce agricultural crops profitably.

The state's present timber acreage is now approximately 3,500,000 as compared with approximately 15,000,000 of the total state territory of 36,000,000 acres which were covered with high quality timber a century ago.

Tomasek said that the forestry division expects to have some 7,000,000 tree seedlings available for planting next spring.

Thomas Says Campaign Will Be Meaningless

St. Louis, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Norman Thomas, thrice the socialist candidate for president, looks for the 1940 political campaign "to be rather unsatisfactory, twaddle, and twaddle."

"The campaign will center around keeping out of war but that won't mean anything," Thomas said in an interview here. "I think Roosevelt can nominate himself and elect himself if he wants to."

Thomas lectured at a forum last night.

To Make Some Money

Everybody understands that railroads exist to provide transportation for the benefit of patrons, employment for the benefit of workers, purchasing power for the benefit of farmers, merchants and manufacturers, taxes for the benefit of governmental employees.

Amid this welter of confusing claims, let us never forget there is another benefit that lies at the foundation of all—the benefit which is conferred upon the railway owner as the result of being permitted to make some money.

Far, far too many railway owners are making no money today; some of them are lucky to keep their property out of the hands of the sheriff. Yet the investment represented in railway ownership is the one thing that provided the plant and stimulated the enterprise upon which all railway progress has been based.

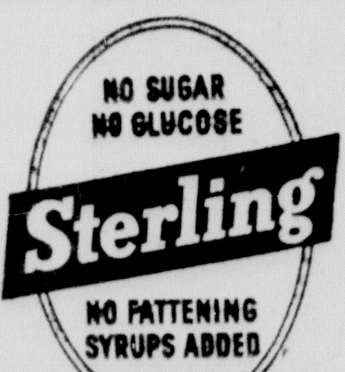

Under private ownership the future of the railroads depends most closely upon adequate earnings—earnings that will maintain their credit and attract new capital for the further improvements that traffic will demand.
